

Fight U. S. Control On Home Front, Say Chamber Officials

Cite Problems in Taxation,
Social Security, Other Fields

A strong plea for action on the home front to keep local and state rule from being engulfed by the federal government was made by three officials of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce Friday at a regional meeting at the Conway hotel.

Main issues discussed were unemployment compensation, social security, labor relations, aids to education, federal spending and the need for a tax revision program in Wisconsin. Speakers were Frank Hausheer, general manager of the state chamber, Joseph Fagan, legislative counsel, and Robert Smith, director of public relations.

"The sooner people realize the job can be done better at home, closer to the source, the sooner it will be done," said Hausheer as he discredited the need for what he termed "Potomac benevolence." He made the point that federal expenditures can't be reduced or the tax burden lessened until the people of Wisconsin stop insisting that the federal government step in to solve their problems.

The state must develop long range planning for taxation, he said. The sales tax issue must be faced, no longer just investigated. "We can have in Wisconsin a sound tax program that will meet the staggering needs of the future," he stated.

Proposed federal legislation that he said threatens state programs was discussed by Fagan. He termed the Eisenhower proposal to extend unemployment compensation a welfare type of arrangement, a relief grant superimposed on top of an existing earned rights program.

"Under no circumstances should the federal government be allowed to wreck our Wisconsin program," he said. If the unemployed person needs help beyond the 26 1/2 weeks covered by compensation in this state, he should get it through regular relief channels, Fagan stated.

Fox Cities Represented 1,000 Teenagers Gather to Work For Bettering Selves, Communities

BY BETTY KULICH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fond du Lac — Most of the 1,000 teenagers swarming into Fond du Lac Thursday, over 50 of them from the Fox Cities area, temporarily tucked giggles and frivolity into the background in preference to the serious business at hand.

Their reason for gathering was the sixth annual Wisconsin Youth conference and they flowed into the city by chartered buses, cars and trains, bringing with them myriad ideas by which to better themselves, their fellow teenagers and their communities.

And when the dust of the day's busy sessions settled down, Outagamie county, a part of District V, emerged with a good share of responsibilities.

Peter Peckham, an Appleton high school sophomore, was he said the major issue concerns jurisdiction. Just how much authority the federal government should have and how much the state should have is a question that has never been resolved.

Finds Slaying Was Justified

But Verdict Leaves
Fate of Film Star's
Daughter in Doubt

Los Angeles — A coroner's jury found the slaying of Johnny Stompanato justifiable, but the big question still remains today—what will happen to Lana Turner's teenage daughter?

In a scene wilder than any of her movie premieres, Lana was the star witness yesterday in detailing the fierce arguments and threats that preceded Cheryl Crane's knife thrust into the abdomen of her mother's underworld boy friend.

But Cheryl, 14, today followed the same routine as the other inmates of juvenile hall. She wore a cotton uniform and black cotton stockings. And she anxiously awaited tomorrow her first visit in a week from her mother and father, Steve Crane, cafeman.

Verdict Not Binding
The coroner's verdict is not binding in any way upon juvenile court, which will hear her case privately on April 24.

It is not likely, legal sources agree, that the court will decide to try her as an adult on a murder charge, but it could. Most likely matter to be considered at the hearing will be whether Cheryl lacks proper parental control.

There is a possibility that the daughter of a movie star earning $150,000 a picture and a father who drives a $12,000 car could be placed in a foster home of middle class income, or a state institution for girls. One thing is certain, sympathy is almost universally with the youngster.

Prospects for Peace Better, Diplomat Says

Red Ambassador to U. S. Visiting With Wealthy Businessman

Cleveland — Mikhail A. Menshikov, Russian ambassador to the United States, said last night that prospects for peace look slightly better.

"There must be a willingness on the part of both sides to get together and try to come to some sort of understanding and exchange of views," he said on his arrival here for a weekend social visit with Industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton.

In a stopover en route here from Washington, Menshikov said in Pittsburgh that a summit conference is a little closer but there still are some obstacles to be overcome.

The 55-year-old gray-haired ambassador said the ending of United States atomic tests would be a "very important step toward peaceful co-existence with Russia."

With the ending of atomic tests, other steps would naturally follow, Menshikov asserted. These would include, he said, the end of producing atomic weapons and liquidation of existing stockpiles.

Something Basic
Asked whether this would not mean inspection to guarantee that various powers were obeying the agreement, Menshikov said:

"First you must agree on something basic, in principle, and then find out the details." He added that trying to set up an inspection system first was "putting the details before determining the principle."

The ambassador said he did not see anything unusual in visiting a wealthy American capitalist like Eaton. "We are prepared to deal with anyone," he remarked.

The Soviet party including Menshikov's wife and Vladimir S. Lavrov, Soviet embassy counselor, will visit Eaton's Acadia farm at Northfield, about 15 miles south of here.

GM Shutdown for Week Planned at Several Plants

Detroit — General Motors says it will close nine of its Chevrolet division manufacturing plants Monday for one week and will close nine assembly plants for a similar period the following week.

The company said yesterday the shutdowns were part of an effort to readjust production to new car inventories.

GM said it did not know how many workers would be affected. Manufacturing plants scheduled to close Monday are at Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio; Buffalo and Tonawanda, N.Y.; Bay City and Livonia, Mich., and three at Flint, Mich.

Assembly plants closing the week of April 21 are at Janesville, Wis.; Van Nuys and Oakland, Calif.; Kansas City, St. Louis, Tarrytown, N.Y.; Atlanta, Ga.; Baltimore and Flint.

F. J. Fessenden, resident manager of the Janesville plant, said the shutdown will affect some 3,000 employees.

Wide-Spread Attacks by Cuban Rebels Reported

Crushing a rebel attempt to touch off a general strike.

Scattered clashes of rebels and government forces continued across Cuba but Havana, where an attempted uprising failed Wednesday, was quiet.

A spotty and ineffective attempt at a general strike in Camaguey province ended yesterday. The government said seven rebels were killed at Sagua La Grande in Las Villas province, where 200 rebels had been reported fighting Batista's forces.

Shrine Saved
Rebel raiders from Castro's strongholds in the Sierra Maestra invaded El Cobre before dawn. They reportedly burned the city hall but left after residents pleaded that further burning would destroy the town, one of Cuba's most holy places. As they left they set off the dynamite.

El Cobre's Roman Catholic cathedral contains the shrine of the Holy Virgin of El Cobre, patron saint of Cuba's Catholics. Msgr. Enrique Perez Serantes, archbishop of eastern Cuba, said in Santiago the little wooden statue of the virgin and its jeweled crown remained undamaged in an altar niche.

White House Asserts Price Russians Set for Part in Early Talks Unacceptable

Washington — The United States plans to consult quickly with its NATO allies on formally rejecting Russia's terms for meetings to arrange a summit conference. The aim is to get a reply to Moscow by Thursday.

That's the date suggested by the Soviet government yesterday for beginning talks in Moscow at the ambassador level.

Shortly after the Soviet note was delivered in Moscow, the White House branded as unacceptable the price Russia set for its participation in such preliminary talks.

The conditions stated by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko were contrary at every point to the known policies of the western powers. This caused speculation here as to why the Soviets sent such a note.

Two possible explanations were offered by officials today. One was that the Soviets do not seriously want a summit conference in the immediate future, but prefer instead to go on making propaganda over the issue. U.S. authorities concede that so far the Russians are ahead in the propaganda game.

The Russians are trying to persuade world opinion that they are more peace loving and more anxious for summit settlements than is the west.

Diplomatic Talks
The other motive suggested was that Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants a summit conference, but is confident that by manipulating world opinion he can force the western powers to go into such a conference on Russia's terms.

The United States, Britain and France, acting on behalf of the whole 15-nation NATO group, had proposed March 31 that diplomatic talks be started in Moscow in the latter part of April, to be followed by a foreign ministers meeting.

The western big three said the purpose of the preliminary sessions would be to look into issues for summit conference discussion and eventually to decide on the date and place of a top level meeting, as well as who should attend. The preparatory talks would show the possibilities of agreement on major world problems, the western note said.

In the auditorium of the Hardware Mutual Insurance company, crowded by nearly 300 dairy farmers and representatives of dairy and farm organizations, he found more unity than he expected.

Although the meeting was to be a give and take affair on an informal basis, through the urging of Milo Singler, Fair Price committee chairman, expression by voice vote was taken on the points raised. Rep. Laird protested the procedure and apologized because it was not a part of the invitation to the meeting.

Three Bills Offered
One of the two self-help bills before the house of representatives was written by the National Dairy committee organized by the National Grange and introduced by Rep. Laird. The chairman of the house agriculture committee and Senators Wiley and Proxmire have offered two other bills.

The house bills were turned over to the department of agriculture for examination and the department's report is due back with a recommendation this week. The committee will start hearings after the recommendations have been digested some time this month or early in May.

Rep. Laird said indications have been evident that the decrushing a rebel attempt to touch off a general strike.

Scattered clashes of rebels and government forces continued across Cuba but Havana, where an attempted uprising failed Wednesday, was quiet.

A spotty and ineffective attempt at a general strike in Camaguey province ended yesterday. The government said seven rebels were killed at Sagua La Grande in Las Villas province, where 200 rebels had been reported fighting Batista's forces.

Owners Will Deed Back 3 Sale Houses

Wife Whose $10,000
Home Sold for $150
Gets New Chance

Evansville, Ind. — Mrs. and Mr. Morris Esche said today they will deed back three houses bought at sheriff's sales if the former owners will pay the expenses they have incurred.

Esche, a 30-year-old Purdue university student, and his wife found themselves in a furor this week after Mrs. Juanita Malin, 39, and the widowed mother of nine children, reported her $10,000 house had been sold because of a $69.90 unpaid grocery bill.

Two other home owners also said Esche had bought their houses under similar circumstances, one for $80 and one for $475.

The Esches said in a statement through their attorney, Howard Sandusky, they will be "more than happy to give the deeds to the property back to them."

However, they said the money does not in any way cover the work and anxiety they have been caused.

Public Auction

"We purchased the property at a public auction," the Esches said in their statement. "At that time we did not know the personal circumstances of the families until we heard about it from the newspapers and other news sources."

"The action on our part will give the owners a second chance... however, we do not feel it will return to us the trouble it has caused."

The $150 Esche paid for the Malin house represented a judgment from a justice of the peace court for the unpaid grocery bill, interest and legal fees involved in the sale.

The Self-Help Dairy Stabilization proposals were explained Friday at a meeting in Stevens Point by the authors and the congressman who introduced it. partment will return a critical report. The meat of Friday's meeting was Laird's attempt to get advice on how to answer the expected objections.

Committee Report

William B. Person, master of the Minnesota Grange and chairman of the National Dairy committee, explained a resolution from the Wisconsin Grange adopted by the National Grange in 1954 which created the committee composed of masters of the Minnesota, Delaware, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania Granges and industry representatives of the Pure Milk Association, Hoard's Dairyman, the Dairyman's league and a marketing co-op from South Carolina.

Person stressed that any farm bill must take into consideration viewpoints from all areas in the nation, not those exclusively interested in dairy.

William Winn, president of the PMA with 42 years experience in the Chicago milkshed and active in the National Milk Producers federation, was a member of the National Dairy committee.

Aim At Stability

He declared stability rather than price should be the dairyman's concern in the bill and urged a spirit of compromise so that stability could be achieved in the near future. When Singler was able to impress the meeting into recording his views, he asked Winn to act as chairman to divorce Laird further from the action.

Many of the expected objections caused considerable discussion, at times heated and at times greeted with enthusiastic approval. Most of the questioning was penetrating.

Resume of Feeling

Although the voting had no official status, a resume of the meeting's consensus will serve to outline the scope of the discussions.

An exemption of farmers with small herds from the provisions of the bill, with the effect of freeing him from the surplus disposal assessment was unanimously rejected.

The bills differ on voting in the referendum that will put the program into effect if the bill is passed. Laird's has voting by the individual. The other two bills propose block voting by dairy organizations. The meeting was overwhelmingly in back of Laird, although there was some dissent.

Don't Change Review

There was complete unanimity in instructing Laird to block any attempt to remove the provision from the bill that forces the secretary of agriculture to go to court to change actions of the stabilization board. The department is certain to protest strongest on this point, Laird said.

The stabilization board, as the bill is written, is prevented from being reimbursed for surpluses disposed of through foreign channels. Although the exchange of currencies will be an avenue of government concern with the board, consideration of the wide surplus market through these channels resulted in unanimous approval of an amendment allowing the use of these channels.

Most Difficult Advice

In the bill, authority is given the stabilization board to fix Friday to Mr. and Mrs. George prices. Rep. Laird reported, there may be an attempt to write a fixed price into the bill.

The meeting instructed no change.

The most difficult advice Rep. Laird received concerned the makeup and selection of the stabilization board itself.

The bill proposes the president appoint 15 men, at least 11 farmers, from a group of three men from each federal farm district nominated by a vote of dairy farmers. The provision came under the greatest and most heated attack.

It was explained the collection of the 25 per cent per hundred weight assessment to finance the surplus program is considered taxation, an exclusive right of congress.

Legal opinion contends the board can have the ability to collect the assessment only through a delegation of power from the president.

Desire Direct Election

Despite these explanations, the meeting, though divided, favored direct election of the board members, by-passing the president's appointment.

So strongly did the farmers at the meeting feel about removing the appointive power from the president that they agreed, "one Benson is better than 15 Bensons."

Rep. Laird told the farmers he could not promise delivery of the self-help program and explained it would be but a section of an overall farm bill, since no single commodity bill could be passed in this congress.

Parking Lot Race Finishes in Court

Driver Admits Recklessness, Pays $25 Fine

Two youths have been charged with reckless driving as an aftermath of fast driving to and in the parking lot of the Pine Castle ballroom in the town of Oneida about 1 o'clock last Sunday morning.

William VanDer Zanden, 20, route 3, Seymour, was fined $25 and will be charged six points against his driving record after he admitted the charge.

The other youth, Larry Ingebreton, 18, route 2, West DePere, did not appear in court and a date is to be set for his trial. He has not posted bond.

County police said Ingebreton drove the leading car as the two youths spun their car wheels and raced around the lot. Police said there were people working in the parking lot during the impromptu race.

VanDer Zander at first denied the charge, then after Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg told him that VanDer Zander would have to swear to tell the truth if he wanted to testify, the youth decided not to testify and pleaded guilty.

Vacant Homes

Eight Boys, 13 to 16, In Court for Thefts

Eight youths, aged 13 to 16, appeared in juvenile court Friday before County Judge Stanley A. Staidl on charges of stealing and damaging contents in two vacant Appleton homes.

Five youths, one 13, two 15 and one 14, were ordered to pay $2.90 each for costs and their share of damage at a vacant home on the southwest corner of E. Wisconsin avenue and N. Morrison street. The boys, police reported, broke a window and tore a mattress in the home.

The five and three others, two 14 and one 16, have admitted entering the home of Miss Edith Brunschweiler, St. Paul, Minn., at 826 E. Eldorado street last September. Appleton detectives, after questioning many suspects and leads, cracked the case in February.

Three of the boys, aged 14 and 15, admitted entering the home at least four or five times. The other boys said they were in the home once.

Judge Staidl said Friday that no estimate of loss or damage had been set by Miss Brunschweiler and continued the boys' case for two weeks pending an estimate.

The boys, police said, entered the house and stole valuables ranging from antiques to radios to women's clothing, according to a list furnished by Miss Brunschweiler. Most of the stolen articles were recovered, although police said some were thrown on trash heaps by the boys. Some articles were sold to classmates, the boys told police.

Miss Brunschweiler had made several complaints to police about vandalism in her home, but the damage and thefts intensified last fall. She lives in St. Paul, but retains her home on E. Eldorado. It has been vacant for some time.

THE SKY'S THE LIMIT is the theme of the Gibson company's first big "Open Air" sale of brand new 1958 Chevrolets, taking place Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this weekend at the firm's big new well-lighted open air lot at the corner of Ninth and Racine streets in Menasha. 50 sparkling new cars, all thoroughly checked, lubricated, gassed and ready-to-go are the highlights of the sale.

Gibson's believes the sale, today, and 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Sunday, may be the largest display of new cars ever held in Wisconsin. The sale is the Valley's first Open Air super-market type sale.

New car managers Syl Thiel of the Appleton Gibson agency and Paul Stordock of the Menasha Gibson dealership have combined their new car stocks to present the huge display of new '58 models.

Prices during the sale are "much too low to advertise," according to the firm, but each car is clearly marked with the price tag right on the windshield.

Reductions are so drastic, "You won't believe your eyes," officials of the firm promised Friday. Generous trade-in allowances for buyers' old cars will be made to assure a fast sell-out, and lowest cost bank or GMAC payments can be arranged on the spot.

Nearly every style, color and model offered by Chevrolet this year is on display at the Open Air sale.

with each purchase of a lounge chair, the firm said Friday. This offer is for a limited time only, it was emphasized. Value of the free equipment is $74.50.

Politics and Public Works

Announcements this week from two of the principal centers of political interest for people of this region — Madison and Washington — were of a type to make civic-minded citizens of the Fox Cities area jump with joy. The governor of Wisconsin, the chairman of the state highway commission and other state dignitaries loudly proclaimed their intention of putting the wood on Congress to add a Milwaukee-to-Marquette link to the interstate highway system. And from Washington Postmaster General Summerfield announced that if Congress gives him the 5-cent letter rate he wants, he will see to it that new post offices are built in several hundred cities including Appleton.

At this point our chests are supposed to swell with pride, our eyes glitter covetously as we contemplate the prospect of so much money being spent here to provide us with better highway and post office facilities. And of course, our hearts are supposed to melt at the touching concern these politicians are showing for our welfare.

Does Appleton really need a new post office? Is a Milwaukee-to-Marquette link a logical part of the interstate highway system? We are not supposed to ask such questions. After all, someone wants to spend a lot of money on us; why should we look a gift horse in the mouth?

But somehow, proud as we are of this community and anxious as we are to see it have the very best in highway connections, post office buildings and all other public facilities, we find ourselves reacting with irritation at these blatant attempts to buy our votes — for that is exactly what they are.

Appleton does need a larger post office; the city's growth has made the present facilities inadequate. But whether the post office department should construct a new building here, or enlarge the present one, is a decision that should be made by the department's engineers, real estate experts, economic planners and the like; it has nothing to do with the 5-cent letter rate and Summerfield knows it. We would not be surprised to find that every one of the country's 435 congressional districts is taken care of in Summerfield's plan for new post offices; or at least every district represented by a congressman whose vote the postmaster general thinks he needs.

The only reason we are glad Summerfield made his announcement is that it may wake up Appleton's civic leaders, and the post office department's planners, to this city's need for a larger or new post office. But we wish these decisions could be made on the basis of real need and not as part of a political triple play in which the citizens of communities like Appleton are used as pawns.

The Well Dressed Elevator Operator

Jim McFarland, 67, Minneapolis, is what people of his age might call an odd duck. He inherited some money and therefore does not need to work for a living, at least not very hard. But to occupy his time he serves as an elevator operator in a Minneapolis clothing store.

Jim loves clothes. Only recently he completed his annual clothing purchases. He had secured 10 tailor-made suits at $150 each, and one $100 hat. These articles brought his wardrobe up to 54 suits, five $100 hats, several $50 hats and a good supply of shoes at $65 per pair. He has the collection insured for $5,000.

Customers at the store frequently remark about the natty appearance of the

Could Private Firms Build Roads for Less?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I read all of the publicity concerning the county highway department which you carried in your newspaper and also the incident about the person who allegedly was boycotted by the highway department for sending out information about the cost of highway work.

It seems to me that some people on the highway department apparently do not want any study made of how much it is costing us for our roads and whether it would be cheaper to have private firms doing the work. If this was not true, why does the highway department resent anybody's questioning the matter of whether it could not be cheaper some other way?

It is a wonder that more people don't concern themselves with this, as it is something

Likewise there may be very good reasons why a route from Milwaukee through the Fox River Valley to Marinette and thence through Upper Michigan to Sault Ste. Marie should be added to the interstate highway system. But the reason advanced by Gov. Thomson — that Wisconsin has not had its "fair share" of the interstate system's mileage — is certainly not one of them.

The interstate system was supposed to have been designed for the good of the nation as a whole, as indeed all federal programs should be planned. It was adopted because highway travel has become so widespread in America that many people who live far from any segment of the system will nevertheless use it. Wisconsin was allotted little of the mileage simply because its peculiar location west of Lake Michigan means that there is relatively little interstate traffic through it. When Gov. Thomson pulled out the old cry of "We want our share" he was falling into the same error that has brought about so much boondoggling in the federal grants-in-aid programs: the theory that whenever the federal government spends money on public works or aid programs it must see that each state gets its share. This is what has brought about the phenomenon of dollars going from the states to Washington, and then back again considerably shrunken.

We see nothing wrong with the responsible officials of the state of Wisconsin presenting to Congress and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads legitimate arguments in favor of adding this segment to the interstate system; such arguments as the increased traffic in this area that will result from the St. Lawrence seaway, or the importance of providing the strategic Sault Ste. Marie area with an additional link to the interstate system since the only one now provided depends on the Mackinac bridge which could, of course, be destroyed by one, well-placed bomb in case of war. It is, indeed, the responsibility of state officials to see that such legitimate evidence is presented. But that is very different from the political cry, "We want our share!"

We hope Appleton gets a new or enlarged post office; we hope the Fox River valley route can be added to the interstate highway system. But these things should come about only because they are logical, sensible and economically feasible from the point of view of the national government. Above all, let us not kid ourselves that these things are "free" — we will pay for them, just as we pay for anything and everything that is done by any government to which we pay taxes. It is our money these politicians are playing with.

elevator operator. Every day he enhances his sartorial splendor by wearing a fresh rose. He estimates he has worn 20,000 roses since 1903, which indicates that he began wearing them when he was 12 years old.

Many people with sufficient means spend their lives in idleness or devoted to their own pleasure. McFarland keeps busy but devotes his spare time and money to self adornment. Most people will think that they could find something better to do with both the time and the money.

The best that can be said for his hobby is that it is harmless and it does give some pleasure to others who may enjoy the sight of a well dressed man. The worst that can be said is that it is a mild form of dissipation, scarcely worth wasting a lifetime on.

convulsions. Control a revolt like that of 1956 all by themselves? Someone must have conveyed their terror to Khrushchev. Anyway when they looked and listened again everything had changed:

If the enemies of the working class . . . try to make a putsch or counter-revolution. I tell them from here that all the socialist countries and the forces of the USSR are ready at any moment to unite and give their help. . .

Premier Kadar could draw a deep breath again. The total inconsistency of the two statements wouldn't bother any real communist since the ability to turn about or inside out is a requisite for membership in the party. Next time Comrade Khrushchev might as well use the stuff Carroll wrote about the slithy loves and the wabes.

Mexico, Canada Worry About Liquor, Poll Finds

See It as Menace to Life, Health

BY ELMO C. WILSON
Director, World Poll

Concern about drinking varies widely in different countries. A majority in Latin countries, like France, Mexico and Brazil feel that drinking has reached proportions which jeopardize national well-being. In Italy, where large amounts of wine are consumed with meals, very few regard drinking as a problem.

Sweden Concerned

Sweden and Canada are two non-Latin countries in which worry about drinking is high. The figures for Canada can be related to the French results since the French-Canadian segment of the Canadian population is sizeable. Sweden stands out as the Nordic country where public opinion is most aroused about the menace of alcohol. It is interesting that the attitudes here differ widely from those in adjacent Norway.

"Do you think that there is so much drinking now that it is a menace to our society, or not?"

The low figure for Italy is explained by recent psychological studies of alcoholism. These studies indicate that Italians begin drinking wine in childhood, drink frequently, rarely become alcoholics. Drinking occurs with meals, in clear-cut situations where no one sees anything unus-

Mechanical Hearts for Stagnated Bodies

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I see where motor trolling is now permitted on the "Big Lake." That's fine! But how about a little more ingenuity in casting or reeling in a fish by motorizing the reel? That's getting to be a lot of work! Better still, couldn't we devise a remote-controlled boat and motor combination that would enable us to fish with a telescope on the front porch?

Right now, with my old-fashioned auto, I'm pretty well exhausted by the time I reach the lake, with my manual shift, stepping on the clutch and brake with my own power, and especially having to steer with my own two hands. However, I'm waiting for the newer models to really reduce my driving labors. Surely the industry will devise a door that will be closed by a pushbutton, an automatic trunk opener, and a car that will wash and polish itself. Perhaps the conception of a magnetic motor-rail will be realized in the near future, and I can play sheephead in the back of my car while I drive."

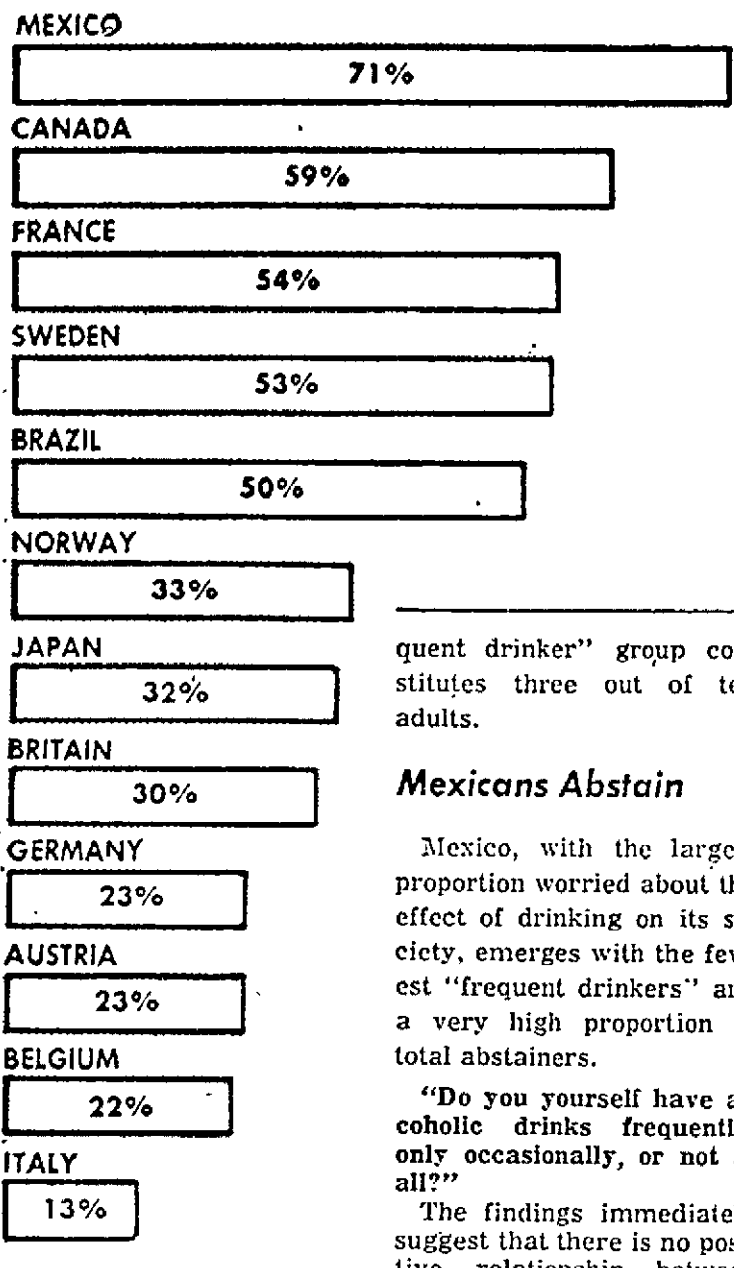

Walk on College Ave?

While we're on the subject, couldn't we cut down on the widths of the sidewalks so that we wouldn't have so far to walk when we dash in a store for a purchase? And the idea of making College avenue into a mall where people would have to walk up and down the avenue and possibly park their cars three or four blocks away? From what primitive prehistoric thinking did that arise?

Golf, too, is another sport that is going modern. When we get our exercise in the near future we will be able to do it sitting down in one of those nice golf carts that transport us, muscles and all, over the green. For those of us who still must use our feet, don't you think that some genius could figure out a method to put a small ual or immoral about the use of alcohol. Another important factor differentiating drinking in Italy from that in Sweden is the much higher consumption of wine rather than the "harder" schnapps of the Swedes.

What is the relationship between concern about drinking as a national problem and frequency of individual drinking as reported to World-Poll interviewers? Only in France, Italy, Britain and Japan does the proportion reporting frequent drinking rise to over 10 percent. In France, the "fre-

Mexicans Abstain

Mexico, with the largest proportion worried about the effect of drinking on its society, emerges with the fewest "frequent drinkers" and a very high proportion of total abstainers.

"Do you yourself have alcoholic drinks frequently, only occasionally, or not at all?"

The findings immediately suggest that there is no positive relationship between heavy drinking and concern with drinking as a serious problem. In France, there are many heavy drinkers and high concern. In Italy, there are many heavy drinkers and little concern.

Teetotalers Concerned

Within each of the European countries and Canada there is a relationship between the amount of drinking an individual does and his opinion about the seriousness of the drinking problem. The problem is considered most serious by those who report that they themselves are teetotalers. Whatever considerations — moral, esthetic, etc. — which influence them to abstain apparently make them view drinking in general with a jaundiced eye.

Drinkers Unworried

Those who report that they drink frequently are least worried about drinking as a national problem. The relationship shown for Britain is true of Canada and

The Georgia Minstrels will draw nearly everybody in town to Bertschy Hall on the 12th of May.

John Dillon, the incomparable humorist and actor, will greet a full house here on May 19.

Burr Robbins' excellent Menagerie and Circus will bring an immense crowd to Appleton about the last of May.

Should Forepaugh's Circus, with its thrilling crowd of camp-followers, come this way this season, the mayor should hint to the police to load their revolvers and "shoot and hit."

The Templars Dramatic Troupe will perform a drama at the Temple of Honor Tuesday evening and should draw a large crowd.

The Odd Fellows will commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of American Odd Fellowship at Konemic Hall Friday evening, April 20th, commencing at 7:30 sharp, and winding up with a social dance.

Farmers were disappointed over the present price of barley which, they said, had risen but 3 cents from its former price of 27 cents a bushel, despite the return of beer and the rush business being done by the breweries. Beer, the farmers stated, was on the market at higher prices than before prohibition, but the price they believed, was of no aid in solving that phase of farm relief.

Looking Wrong Way

Sunbury, Pa. — Local police were sent to investigate an accident in which a moving car had smashed into the rear of a parked car, pushing it into a second parked car.

The motorist explained that he had glanced behind him as he passed an intersection to make sure he didn't go through a red light and hit the first parked car before he could turn around to look at the road ahead again.

Widower Given Probation for Obscene Calls to Young Girls

A 50-year-old Kimberly widower, charged with using obscene language during six telephone calls to girls of high school age in the Hortonville area, has been sentenced to 90 days in the county jail and put on probation for two years in municipal court.

Henry Van Haelst has been held in the county jail and the state diagnostic center at Wau-pun for 90 days and was given credit for time served. He was released on probation Friday. The diagnostic center reported Van Haelst was not a sex psychopath.

Van Haelst admitted calling 18 girls a total of 66 times. He began the calls last Nov. 26 and was caught early in January.

William J. Geenen, Van Haelst's attorney, told the court, "These were only telephone calls, although I don't condone the calls in any way, and those called had the possibility of hanging up. No real harm has been done. . . I am reminded of college students calling each other up on the telephone."

Judge Oscar J. Schmiede told Geenen the village of Hortonville was up in arms about the calls. "We can't have someone making calls with this sort of language to young girls," Judge Schmiede said.

Van Haelst was warned by Judge Schmiede that any more complaints on calls by him would mean a jail sentence. Sentence was withheld on three of the counts to place Van Haelst on probation.

Walleye Fishing on the Wolf River has not reached its peak this spring but there are fish to be had by anglers willing to spend enough time on the water. These shots were taken by Post-Crescent cameramen at various points along the river. At left Herman Strobl, 2063 E. Newberry street, Appleton, prepares to net a walleye taken east of New London. Ed Peterson, a guide in Waupaca county during the

Walleye Fishermen Await Spring 'Run'

Water Must Warm Up to Start Fish

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

New London—The man with out a Wolf river rig here and along the river this weekend is a man without a mission. This is pike derby weekend and it is doubtful if the river will get heavier play any time this year than it will today and tomorrow.

Fishermen are likely to find, however, that the walleyes spring spawning run has not started and probably won't begin until early next week—all things being equal.

Except for a quirk of nature which sent chilling rain and snow into Wisconsin a week ago today, derby planners might have selected the exact dates for the spawning run.

Scientific Answer
Richard Harris, fisheries supervisor for the conservation department at Oshkosh, supplies the scientific answer for the delay in the walleye run. Harris said the department's thermograph installed in a boathouse here had been recording fairly even water temperatures until last Friday.

"The water temperature," according to Harris, "must reach and hold 46 degrees to start the major spawning run." He noted that prior to Friday the river's temperature had reached 45 degrees but then the rain and snow came, making the water colder.

As the rain poured down, the river turned dirty and fishing, through the week, amounted to little or nothing. Warm daytime readings failed to offset the cold temperatures at night and the river has not yet reached ed favorable temperature for spawning, Harris said. This is not to mean there will not be fish taken over the weekend. Catches undoubtedly will rise all along the river because of the heavy increase in fishing pressure. Harris expects Tuesday to be the key day.

When the major run does start, he said, female egg fish will constitute the majority of fish taken. This run will last only a day or two at most and for the next 10 or 12 days it will be the males that will be taken.

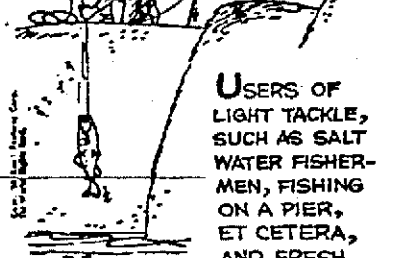

These facts, Harris said, do not hold true for every walleye in the Wolf. Some females, conditioned early for spawning, will head up river in spite of the water temperature. But the majority of fish, he asserts, will hold until conditions are right.

Motor Trolling
Looking toward the motor trolling experiment on Lake Winnebago this summer, Harris says it will be interesting to see if the sand pike is added to fishermen's bags in greater numbers. "Walleyes are shore feeders," Harris explains, "while sand pike stay out in the lake. With the trolling ban lifted, I expect fishermen to use more of the lake, getting off shore more than in other years. Creel checks in winter show 50 per cent walleyes and 50 per cent sand pike. In the summer, however, the percentage is 95 per cent walleyes and only 5 per cent sand pike." Harris expects to see a trend toward bigger boats and more off-shore fishing on Winnebago.

Reveal Round Lake Plans

Bullhead Lake Near Brillion to be Stocked With Muskies, 'Gills, Bass

Brillion — Plans are being made to plant 82,670 fish in Bullhead lake this summer, conservation official Paul Schultz, Plymouth, told a meeting of the Brillion Conservation club at city hall.

The lake was poisoned last summer to clear the water of all fish. During the winter, after several tests were made to prove the water was free of poison, 20,000 trout were planted.

This summer the lake will be stocked with 1,000 muskie fingerlings, 10,000 muskie fry, 50,000 large mouth black bass fingerlings, 1,670 adult bluegills, and 20,000 bluegill fingerlings. The lake is located about 41 miles south of Brillion. The Brillion and Reedsville club worked together in building a public right-of-way which was necessary before the conservation department would stock the lake.

Name Committees
Schultz, who is the district fish manager in this area for the state conservation department, said the same fish stocking program would be carried out on Round lake if a provision was made for a public right-of-way. Round lake is 34 miles southeast of Brillion.

Plans were made to raise 11 acres of sweet corn at the conservation forest park. Clarence Gotter, Edward Michels and Lloyd Wolfmeyer are in charge of the project.

Pheasants were released March 8. Marvin Boettcher has been hired as a caretaker at the pheasant farm. Committees were named for

Fox Valley Anglers Key Participants in Trolling Experiment

Long Banned Fishing Method Most Applicable to Big Lake Winnebago

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Fishermen of the Fox valley and vicinity will probably be the most important of the participants in the experimental motor trolling system that will start on May 1 on a list of selected lakes including Lake Winnebago.

The conservation commissioners approved the limited motor and sail trolling experiment with some reluctance, because of stout resistance from many quarters, but they feel that if the long banned trolling method of taking fish is justified anywhere, it is probably most applicable to such a large lake as Winnebago.

Lake Winnebago is so productive of fish that there is scarcely anyone who feels that hook and line fishermen will deplete it, even with permission for such mechanical aids to fishing, it is pointed out.

Moreover, the lake is such as to render smaller boats unsafe, and it is difficult to row the larger and safer craft, as the argument goes.

State officials point out, however, that the idea has not been uniformly accepted by the public in the Lake Winnebago region. Objections have already been filed by cottagers and other riparians along the lake, including some at Oshkosh and Neenah and Menasha. Their objections do not relate to the "conservation" aspects of the issue, but to the fear that encouragement of motor trolling will interfere with other recreational aspects of the lake.

Trolling Rule
The trolling rule will be effective this spring also in four other bodies of water, including Lakes Wisconsin and Lakes Eau Claire, both of which are flowages, and Shell Lake and the Chetek chain of lakes in Barron county, including six relatively smaller bodies of water.

The conservation commission has carefully emphasized that the new rule is strictly "experimental," and that it does not apply ultimate repeal of the long-standing general rule against mechanical trolling in inland waters. (Trolling in boundary waters is permitted under agreement with neighboring states.)

The experiment may last several years. A final decision will depend upon public reactions to the experimental rule as recorded at that time.

Bag Limit Issue Expected to Crop Up at County Meetings

Spring Meetings Scheduled May 12

The annual county meetings of the Wisconsin conservation congress will be held in the county courthouses on the evening of May 12, the state conservation department has announced.

All citizens are eligible to attend the meetings and to express themselves on fish and game law proposals and revisions of existing regulations for the guidance of the state conservation commission.

Game Committee Tours North This Weekend

The upland game committee of the Wisconsin conservation congress will study game conditions in northeastern Wisconsin this weekend.

Headed by Foster Patch of Richland county, the committee will meet in Rhineland and tour neighboring territory this afternoon and Sunday.

Question Won't be Up for Vote but State Thinks It Will be Discussed

Should the bag limit for perch and other panfish be eliminated throughout Wisconsin, after the pattern of the experimental liberalization put into effect in selected counties and waters in the last two seasons?

The reaction of fishermen and other sportsmen at the county meetings of the Wisconsin conservation congress this spring may provide the answer.

The conservation department is not submitting the question for a vote at the county meetings, but it expects it to come up spontaneously, and it won't be disappointed if it does.

General Repeal

When the fisheries division successfully urged the conservation commission several years ago to abolish bag-limits in some localities, it was with the idea that it would be a forerunner of a general repeal of harvest limits on the common fish species later.

Fishermen are now permitted to take panfish in any quantity from Lake Mendota in Dane county, within sight of the state capitol, and in the waters of Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Taylor, Washington, Fond du Lac (except Lake Winnebago) Burnett, Kenosha, Kewaunee and Washburn counties.

The idea of limitless panfishing was originally tried in Lake Mendota, famed nation-wide for its winter ice fishing, with generally satisfactory public reactions for the first two years.

During the ice fishing season now ended, however, there was some grumbling among Madison and area sportsmen because the harvests were considerably below normal, and some criticism of the liberal harvest rules.

Distribution of Trout Will Remain the Same

The state conservation department's trout distribution quotas, despite some grousing from the hinterlands, will remain unchanged from last year as the new state hatchery production season begins.

The conservation commission has given its approval to the state fishery division plan to maintain in effect the distribution formula operative last year, which gave the largest percentage share of total hatchery output to the northeastern Wisconsin sector.

There have been some protests from that part of the state that the streams there, among the best of the trout waters in Wisconsin, should get an even higher proportion of fishery department managers' trout fingerlings and artificial trout reared artificially.

Conservation commissioners, as they gave their informal approval to the distribution schedule, noted that the matter is really "administrative" in character, meaning that the an even higher proportion of fishery department managers' trout fingerlings and artificial trout reared artificially time they feel it is necessary.

Clintonville Opens With 10-2 Victory

Russ Huebner Holds Marion To 2 Hits, Strikes Out 7

Clintonville — The Clintonville High school baseball team combined a 10-hit attack with Russ Huebner's 2-hit pitching for a 10-2 win over Marion here Friday afternoon. It was the season opener for both schools.

Huebner, senior right-hander, struck out seven and walked four while his mates stroked 10 singles and backed him up with some polished fielding. The Truckers turned in two double plays.

The Clints opened up with four runs against Marion's Ken Wolff in the second, added two more in the third against Bill Radies, and finished with four off Radies in the fifth.

Third baseman Pete Schnorr and catcher Ron Buchberger swatted two hits and drove in three runs apiece. Shortstop Terry Lichtenberg picked up two RBIs on two singles, and left fielder Bob Gensler scored three runs and drove in one with a pair of singles.

Marion's Clem Shauger got the only extra base hit of the game, a double in the second. Wolff's solid single and Shauger's sacrifice fly brought in the two Pigeon runs in the

Braves Rap 18 Hits Off Tiger Pitching

Spahn and Conley Hurl 14-6 Win

Milwaukee — The Milwaukee Braves were to renew old acquaintances at County stadium today in their first visit to the ball park since the glory days of last October when they won the world championship.

They play the Detroit Tigers this afternoon and again Sunday in the windup of their spring exhibition season.

The Braves buried the Tigers, 14-6, in Denver Friday amid rain and snow showers. Eddie Mathews, Harry Hanebrink and Felix Mantilla unloaded homers to feature an 18-hit attack on four Tiger pitchers.

Spahn Gets the Win

Warren Spahn and Gene Conley divided the pitching duties with "Spannie" getting the victory.

Manager Fred Haney has designated Lew Burdette to start Sunday's game against Oshkosh's Billy Hoelt. Chances are that Bob Trowbridge will follow Burdette.

The weekend rotation adds weight to the belief that Warren Spahn, the dean of the Braves' staff, will get the opening day assignment Tuesday against Pittsburgh's Bob Friend at the stadium.

Platoon in Right

Haney also plans to platoon in right, too. Bob Hazle and Andy Pafko will see action there just as they did in the Braves' drive for the 1957 flag. Hazle will play against righthanders and Pafko against left-handers.

The Joe Adcock-Frank Torre tandem at first base also is still in effect.

The rest of the lineup will be the same: "Red" Schoendienst at second; Johnny Logan at short; Mathews at third; Hank Aaron in center; and Del Crandall behind the plate.

The Braves arrived Friday night. But only a smattering of the bold and faithful were on hand to greet them.

Their chartered plane touched down at General Mitchell field minutes after the Detroit Tigers arrived for today's exhibition contest.

Notes and Notions

by John L. Paustian

The urge to forecast major league pennant races is much like spring fever: few of us escape it. Anyhow, since my initial venture last year turned out reasonably well, there seems to be no reason to quit now. I called the two winners — the Braves and the Yanks — last year. And from this corner, at this time, it looks like a World Series re-match come October. Last year, my 1-2 American league choices were on the head, as I predicted the highest finish (second) for the White Sox in more than 30 years. I was less fortunate in the NL, picking Cincinnati for the runnerup spot and failing to foresee the Cardinals' marked improvement. The Cards again appear to be the Braves' chief threat, and I'll take a flyer on the Red Sox as the AL's No. 2 team.

It's true Fred Haney's Braves are not without their problems. But, they still have the league's best blend of pitching and power. For once, we don't have to fret about left field and second base at season's outset. Wes Covington and "Red" Schoendienst, who proved such half-season whizzes last year, are on-deck for full-season duty — assuming, of course, that their current minor injuries aren't aggravated. Bob Rush won't hurt the mound corps a bit. He should take up any slack that might result from a failure of Warren Spahn to hit the 20 mark again (but don't bet that the marvelous vet won't make it).

The Cards have a fine combination of youth and experience, but a number of positions are still unsettled as a result of considerable experimentation. St. Louis also has fewer "pressure" pitchers than the Braves. I pick the Redlegs for a close third, figuring their pitching is somewhat steadier and that they won't lose 18 games to the Braves as they did last year.

Yanks Well-Stocked With Versatile Talent

Unless the Dodgers use the short left field fence as a short cut to glory, they will have trouble finishing higher than fourth. Their pitching is getting better, but age and injuries have taken their toll at other positions. Our crystal ball shows the second division lining up this way: San Francisco, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Casey Stengel has the needed horses to take it all again in the AL. With their versatility and depth of talent, the Yanks are the only team that can't be thrown off-stride by injury to a regular or two or by the failure of an expected big winner to come through on the mound. In picking Boston for second, I may be too impressed by its showing in the relatively unimportant Grapefruit league games. Nonetheless, the Red Sox have looked good, even without Ted Williams — and their pitching and infield both appear stronger. The White Sox have a whale of a pitching platoon, but their trading has left them with less power than any other contender. Detroit, perennially on the verge of making an all-out title fight, but never quite doing it, seems to have more ifs than the three clubs mentioned earlier. My second-division picks come out in this order: Cleveland, Baltimore, Washington and Kansas City.

Despite the rapid-fire scoring of recent Eric Kitzman-coached Oshkosh Titan basketball teams, three records set by Russ Tiedemann three years ago are still on the books. The current Hortonville coach scored the most Titan points in a season (338), the most goals (139) and the most points in a game (34). . . . Four letter winning Fox Cities area cage stars should give Kitzman a pretty good nucleus next season. They are Hortonville's Ron Akin and Kaukauna's Jim Tiedemann. . . . The high school baseball situation has created quite a stir out Sheboygan-way. When the school board made no provisions for 1959 baseball coaches' salaries, it was tantamount to the end of baseball for North and Central. If the decision stands up, it will prove quite a jolt to the hopes many persons held of eventually getting Fox River Valley conference baseball on a full, 8-school basis. As it stands, only Manitowoc, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac will be left with the game. Appleton and the two Green Bay schools have been hold-outs against baseball for years.

Jim Maahs, who played Legion and Valley league baseball here, is now spending part of his service spare time on the diamond at Fort Campbell, Ky. During the basketball season, the former Terror star played on a team which tied for the base championship. He was picked on the 10-man, all-post team to play in a tournament at Fort Benning, Ga.

Appleton's Peter Akmentins, a freshman, is a promising fencer at the University of Wisconsin.

Vike Golf Team Has 3 Veterans For '58 Season

Junior Neil Collins, Soph Jack Close Vie for No. 1 Spot

The Lawrence college golf team will play a formidable 1958 schedule with an array of three lettermen and several bright sophomore prospects.

The team's biggest need at the moment is a prime threat in the No. 1 slot, according to Coach Bernie Hazelton.

The leading candidates for the No. 1 position are Neil Collins, a junior letterman; and Jack Close, a sophomore. Both have the potential to develop into excellent players.

2 Other Veterans Back Last year, Collins played at No. 2 behind "Pike" Peterson. Close has gained a good deal of golfing experience in the last few years as a Riverview Country club player.

The returning veterans, besides Collins, are Dick Lindveldt, a junior who was No. 4 last year, and Craig Castle, a senior, who was No. 5.

John Jenkins, last season's No. 3, like Peterson, is lost to the team.

Rounding out the varsity are sophomores Henry Harris, Dick Davis and Jim Adley.

All of the Vikes' home matches will be played at Riverview. The season opener will be played April 25 against invading Grinnell.

Thus far, the Vikes have been getting in most of their warm-up licks on the football practice field.

FRVL's 1958 Alignment to Be Set Tuesday

The final alignment of teams for the 1958 season is expected to be determined during the Tuesday night meeting of the Fox River Valley Amateur Baseball league in Freedom.

At present, nine teams are ready to go. The league is interested in operating with 10 — the same number as last year. An Appleton group, headed by Gene Kloes, is expected to announce whether it will field a team.

Plans for opening day are to be discussed, with a drawing for pairings slated to take place. The feasibility of awarding a trophy for the largest opening-day attendance will be discussed.

Among the other items of business are the appointment of an umpire-in-chief, the adoption of the official baseball and the review of league by-laws. The entries ready to go this season are Menasha, Kaukauna, Freedom, Kimberly-Little Chute, Reedsville, Harrison, Two Rivers, Oshkosh and Manitowoc.

Detroit Upsets Hibbing, Leads National Bonspiel

Michigan Rink Needs Two Wins To Clinch Title

Milwaukee — Skip Doug Fisk's Detroit rink sat in the driver's seat today in the U. S. Men's National Curling championship at the arena.

If Detroit wins both of its matches this afternoon and tonight, it will take home the title regardless of how the other nine rinks fare.

5 Tied For Third

The Michigan curlers took sole possession of the top spot Friday by upsetting favored Hibbing, Minn., 13-6. Friday night they turned back Winchester, Mass., 11-8, for their sixth victory in seven matches.

Hibbing holds second place with a 5-2 record. It can tie Detroit for the lead if it wins both draws today and the lead-ers split. In that event there would be a playoff for the championship.

Five rinks are tied for third place with 4-3 records. They are Winchester, Grafton, N. D., Utica, N. Y., Seattle and Milwaukee. Winnetka and Nashua, N. H., are in eighth place with two victories and five defeats and Fairbanks brings up the rear with no victories in seven matches.

In matches Friday night, Hibbing came from behind to defeat Fairbanks, 11-5; Grafton edged Utica, 10-9; Milwaukee turned spoiler again at four matches, 10-8; and Winnetka bested Nashua, 11-5.

The 55-year-old Fisk, sales manager for a plating concern, was a member of a different Detroit rink that finished third in the nationals at Chicago last year.

"I'm elated we've come this far," he said. "And I see no reason why we can't win. I don't want to go home with another bronze pin for third place. This time I want a gold one for first place."

Muni Golfers Slate Meeting Monday Night

The spring meeting of the Appleton Municipal Golf association will be held at 7:30 Monday night in the Moose hall.

Among the items of business will be the organization of the 1958 Goodfellowship Golf league. The meeting is open to league golfers and to any other interested persons.

The current officers are: William Gmelner, president; John Hurley, vice president; Owen Hurley, secretary; and Gerald "Babe" Bayer, treasurer.

BABA to Hold Meeting Monday

The annual meeting of the Badger Amateur Baseball association will be held Monday night in the City hall, Marion.

Whitt Shoots 67, Takes Lead At Greensboro

Drops Five Long Putts in First Round of Tourney

Greensboro, N. C. — Don Whitt, a golf professional for almost 10 of his 27 years, says he plays his best in the summer.

He used the official opening of the PGA summer tour to back up his contention by taking a 1-stroke lead into today's second round of the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open tournament.

Whitt, a soft-spoken Alameda, Calif., pro touring with his wife and their two children, bettered par by four shots with a 34-33-67 first round effort Friday.

He dropped five putts of 10 to 20 feet in gaining the lead by a single shot over five rivals. Five more were two strokes behind at 69 and 11 others trailed by three with 70s.

12 Others Equal Par

Twelve others equalled the Starmount Forest Country club course's 35-36-71 par figures.

Whitt has had two big moments in his nearly three years of steady tournament golf. Last year, he lost to Dow Finsterwald in the semi-finals of the PGA championship. A few months earlier he had lost a playoff to Finsterwald after they tied in the Tucson Open.

Don says it probably is chiefly mental, but he believes he plays better golf in the summer. Figures back up his contention. He won only $1,630 on the 1957 winter tour, $1,500 in the losing playoff with Finsterwald. But he finished the year with $8,700 in winnings.

He needed his hot putter yesterday as Jerry Magee of Toronto, a pro only nine months; Al Balding of Markham, Ontario; Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La.; veteran Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, and Gene Bone of Detroit, all burned up the easier back nine to finish with 68s. Pott bagged an eagle three on the eighteenth for an incoming 32, four under par. The five other top men finished with 33s.

Sharing seventh place at 69, two strokes behind Whitt, were Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia; John McMullin of Al Oaks, Calif.; Bob Keller of Eglin Field, Fla.; Chuck Alexander of nearby High Point, and Tony Lema of Napa, Calif.

Busso Stops Boardman in Ninth Round

Boston — Johnny Busso of New York planned a weight battle to remain in the lightweight division today as former contender Larry Boardman went into another extended lay-off after an 8-knockdown brawl.

"I'm going to try to keep campaigning as a lightweight, but we'll just have to see," Busso said after stopping Boardman at 2:59 of the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round Friday night in the Mechanics building.

The 24-year-old Busso, recently discharged from the Army, floored Boardman seven times before Referee Tommy Rawson called a halt just before the bell ending the ninth in the nationally-televized clash.

For Boardman it meant the end of a comeback—begun after a long layoff followed a loss to Busso in a televised bout in the same ring last June.

Busso floored Boardman twice in the first round and three times in the fifth.

Busso weighed 140½, the same as Boardman.

A crowd of 620 fans, who braved a sleet storm, paid a gross of $1,374 for a net of $830.

Ernie Banks Socks 14th Homer Of Fabulous Exhibition Season

Tucson, Ariz.—The man has 41 hits in 106 trips and his extra base hits include 10 doubles, a triple and 14 homers. This is by far his greatest spring, thin Arizona air or not. "They talk about the thin air out here," said Banks in the Cubs' clubhouse after Friday's game. "But if you hit in the Cubs' farwell appearance at their Mesa base with a 3-run homer in the eleventh inning that sank the Los Angeles Dodgers with their fifth straight defeat.

He finished the day with four hits in six trips after a slashing 4-for-4 performance against the Dodgers Thursday.

Just for the record, Banks at 285 with 48 home runs,

You're the Skipper

Here's Advice on How To Pick Good Mooring

BY JOHN BOHANNAN

At this time of year, a lot of you skippers will be thinking about that mooring problem again. Those of you who have freedom of choice may want to make a change. So let's analyze a few of the factors. Maybe the change will be for the better.

First consideration is protection from storms. If you can find a mooring location offering a good lee from prevailing strong winds, you'll save yourself a lot of worry and possible damage. High banks, woods and tall buildings offer good shelter.

Alexander Katovich, assistant district forester at Appleton for four years, has been appointed to fill the district forester vacancy with the conservation department at Wautoma.

He replaces W. B. Bloomquist, who has been transferred to Oshkosh as forest management area supervisor. Katovich's new district includes Wausara, Marquette, Green Lake, Waupaca and Portage counties.

Katovich will be responsible for administration of the forest crop law, woodland tax law, certification of federal aid payments to landowners under the agricultural conservation and soil bank programs and for technical forestry work carried on by soil conservation district cooperators.

In addition to these duties, he will offer marketing and management assistance to woodland owners in the county and assist in the local tree planting program.

He is a native of Kenosha, married and has four daughters. His family will move to Wautoma from Appleton as soon as housing can be arranged.

John Goryl Voted Cubs' Top Rookie Of the Spring

Tucson, Ariz. — Third baseman John Goryl, a 24-year-old from Cumberland, R. I., has been named the Chicago Cubs' rookie of the spring. Goryl, who'll be in the starting lineup against St. Louis Tuesday night, was voted the honor by Chicago baseball writers. He has been a steady performer and has kept his average well over .300.

Goryl was with Memphis last year where he batted .301 and drove in 86 runs.

CW Nines Launch Campaign Tuesday

Marion, Bonduel and Iola Are Defending Co-Champions

A full slate of four games Tuesday will launch the 1958 Central Wisconsin conference baseball season.

Marion — which shared the circuit title with Bonduel and Iola last spring—has seven lettered returnees. The Bruins have five lettermen back while Iola has six.

The first interscholastic competition for any league member was scheduled for today when Waupaca entertains Menasha. Only five of the eight circuit schools is slated to play non-league competition.

Each team will again play only five league games apiece. A rundown on each team follows:

MARION — Veterans under coach John Bartlett's wing are: Terry Balderson, Clem Shauger, and Ernie Pevonka, outfielders; Bill Radies and Ken Wolff, pitcher and third baseman; Mike Betow, catcher and shortstop and Lyle Bailey, first baseman.

Non-conference games are set for April 26 against Weyauwega and May 10 against Tigerton.

IOLA — Skipper William Deeth has thus far lined up no non-conference competition. His lettermen include: Bill Myers, catcher; Jim Helgesen, pitcher; Joe Gjerston, first baseman; Gary Larson, second baseman; Tom Hoyord, shortstop and Gene Mortenson, outfielder.

BONDUEL — Coach Thomas Flanagan will have a pretty experienced infield as three of his five lettered returnees are shortstop Wayne Kroll, first baseman Dennis Bahr, and third baseman Peter Senzig. Others are pitcher Jerry Erb and centerfielder Allen Porter.

The Bruin's lone non-conference scheduling is April 24 when Shawano invades.

Amherst — A nucleus of just three 1957 monogram winners is all that Coach Welton Alm has on hand. They are: John Guyant, shortstop-pitcher; Terry Anderson, first baseman and Charles Dombrowski, outfielder.

The Falcons won't play any games outside the CW.

Manawa — The Wolves only scheduled non-conference start sends them to Shiocton on May 8 for a night game. No outfield veterans return here. Lettermen with whom Skipper Lee Ramos has been working are: Mike Allen, and Bob Hansen, catchers; Ken Groholski, pitcher; Tim Loughrin, first baseman and Dave Quimby, third baseman.

Waupaca — Waupaca has seven 1957 lettermen on the roster, like Marion. Just one, Chuck Pufahl, is an outfielder. The others are: Ken Rushford, pitcher-first baseman; Tom Shambaue, second baseman; Steve Hansen, third baseman; Dick Hendricksen, catcher; Lewis Anderson, shortstop-first baseman and Gary Potts, pitcher-first baseman.

LeRoy — Haberkorn, the coach, has a non-conference game slated at Clintonville next Saturday in addition to today's.

Weyauwega — The only three veteran regulars on hand here are: catcher Larry Kamp, outfielder Gary Grossman and third baseman Roger Boushley. The Indians' game at Marion April 26 is a non-conference tussle.

Carlton Goodrich is the coach.

Wittenberg — Five of Andy Nelson's charges played enough last season to earn a letter. They include: pitcher Allan Schlytter; catcher Dan Breske, first baseman Dan Trotz; third baseman Dennis Schoenick and outfielder Berend.

Dark Hit on Arm By Pitched Ball

Kansas City, Mo. — Veteran infielder Alvin Dark was struck on the left forearm by a pitched ball Friday, throwing a scare into Manager Fred Hutchinson and other members of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dark was taken out of the game at Omaha, which the Cards lost to the Chicago White Sox, 3-1. Trainer Bob Bauman applied ice packs and said the injury is not believed to be serious. The injury occurred in the first inning with Dick Donovan pitching.

Dallas, Texas — Sylvia Ruuska, Berkeley, Calif., Friday retained her 500-yard freestyle championship and set a record of 5:44.9 at the women's National AAU indoor swimming meet.

efforts of Billy Welu (714) and Woody Hulsey (589) in the doubles category Friday seems to be the least likely to stand up. Since 1920, when Marvin Erickson and Eddie Krems, Chicago, took the championship with 1,301, every winning doubles combination has come up with a better pinfall.

The Falkstaff record team all-events total of 9,608 could also stand the test of time.

The S & Z Tool & Die team, Cleveland, Ohio, gave the Falkstaffs their first serious challenge Friday night by pounding out a 3,107 series for second place.

Falstaffs Set ABC All-Events Record With 9,608 Total

Syracuse, N. Y. — The St. Louis Falkstaffs have taken command of three major categories in the American Bowling congress.

They now have to sweat out the remaining 58 days of the event hoping their scores will stand up.

The massive 3210 team series which the Falkstaffs fashioned Thursday night seems relatively secure, since only two higher scores have been recorded in the 55-year history of the congress.

Steve Nagy's 9-game total of 2,033, which put him in command of the all-events division Friday, has some of the earmarks of permanence too.

Braves, Yanks Are Poll Picks

133 of 157 Writers, Broadcasters Favor Milwaukee in Race

New York — The nation's sports writers and sportscasters today decided that the 1958 World Series will be between the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees.

Of the 157 votes received in the annual Associated Press poll, 133 writers and broadcasters thought Milwaukee would win the National league pennant and 128 thought the Yanks would repeat in the American league.

In the compilation of total points, which were decided on the basis of eight for first, seven for second and so on down the line, Milwaukee had 1,230 to 1,053 for second place St. Louis.

The Yanks had 1,223 to 1,026 for second place Chicago.

Behind Milwaukee and St. Louis in the National league, the writers and broadcasters had the windup this way: Cincinnati, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago.

In back of the New York and Chicago in the American league, they saw it this way: Boston, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore, Kansas City, Washington.

Howard to Open Season As Yank Left Fielder

ment that Elston Howard probably will be his left fielder when the official season opens in Boston Tuesday. Stengel has decreed that if Yogi Berra's ailing hand is in shape, Howard will play left field and Yogi will be behind the bat against Boston.

Loss Skein Extended

Furthermore, said Stengel, Andy Carey is his third baseman. That must have left Jerry Lumpe slightly bewildered. A couple of days ago, Lumpe was listed as the regular third baseman.

While the Yanks were surveying their riches, the Dodgers, who are hoping to give Milwaukee a run for the National league flag, ran their losing streak to five games at Mesa, Ariz. The Chicago Cubs whipped them, 5-3, when Ernie Banks crashed a 3-run homer off veteran Carl Erskine in the 11th.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox turned back the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, at Omaha; the San Francisco Giants outlasted the Cleveland Indians, 2-1, in 10 innings at Tulsa, and the Boston Red Sox shut out their Raleigh North Carolina State League farmhands, 6-0, at Raleigh.

Badgers Score 7-2 Victory Over Maxwell

Montgomery, Ala. — Dave Rowlands, a senior from Johnson Creek, who lost his only decision last year, pitched and batted Wisconsin to a 7-2 victory over Maxwell Air Force base Friday.

He turned back the airmen with a 3-hitter and chipped in with a single and a home run good for three runs.

The Badgers, who collected 14 hits and eight walks off Joe Rowe, left 10 runners stranded in the first five innings.

Rowlands' pop fly single produced Wisconsin's first run in the fourth, but Maxwell AFB came back with two in their half of the frame to go ahead 2-1. Miguel Pagan's homer, the airmen's last hit off Rowlands, scored both runs.

Rowlands' homer came in the seventh following a double by Ed Cannon.

'Stu' Locklin Hits Blazing .452 In Training Camp

Appleton's "Stu" Locklin has been maintaining a blazing .452 batting pace for the San Diego Padres in spring training in Florida.

Locklin rapped 19 hits in his first 42 trips for a .452 mark and he led the team in runs-batted-in with 13.

The Padres open their Pacific Coast league season Tuesday.

AP's Jack Hand Picks Yanks to Repeat in AL

BY JACK HAND

St. Petersburg, Fla. — There is a strong suspicion that the New York Yankees will have more trouble than usual this season, with the Chicago White Sox making a determined challenge. However, the Yankees should have enough to win a ninth American league pennant in 10 years under Manager Casey Stengel.

Here's the way it lines up in this book:

1. New York
2. Chicago
3. Boston
4. Detroit
5. Baltimore
6. Cleveland
7. Kansas City
8. Washington

The Yankees have not looked good in spring training, losing seven of nine games over one stretch. In contrast, the Boston Red Sox have been burning up the "grapefruit league." Chicago's pitching strength is not a surprise, having won 13 of its first 17 games. When Ted gets ready, and Billy Martin to shortstop, the Tigers have been bouncing around at the bottom of the exhibition standings but may straighten out when the season opens.

A sore arm that kept Tony Kubek out of action for a week delayed Stengel's experiment of Kubek at short and Gil McDougald at second. Bob Turley and Bob Grim have been hit hard in the games and Tom Sturdivant and Johnny Kucks have been spotty.

Mickey Mantle, having a good spring, is out to regain the triple batting crown he lost last season.

Bill Skowron, Harry Simpson and Elston Howard are thumping the ball. Howard has been catching exclusively, an indication he will carry more of the load this year, giving Yogi Berra more rest.

Seeks Batting Comeback The addition of Early Wynn as a starting pitcher and Ray Moore as a solid man in the cago's pitching strength is not a surprise, having won 13 of its first 17 games. When Ted gets ready, and Billy Martin to shortstop, the Tigers have been bouncing around at the bottom of the ex-

Hams, Jimmy Piersall and Jackie Jensen.

The big punch in the Tiger lineup is Al Kaline. Tighe counts on a batting comeback by Kuenn and expects the veteran Jim Hegon to bolster his catching.

Trader Frank Lane is changing the face of the Cleveland club. Larry Doby is back again. So is Minnie Minoso, the big one who got away as a rookie. Lane has been grabbing pitchers off the waiver list to help Herb Score and Bob Lemon. The loss of Vic Wertz who fractured an ankle was a heavy blow to the home run department.

From this perch, it looks like a 2-way fight between the Yanks and White Sox, the hitters against the pitchers. Boston could make the grade if the pitching comes through big, especially the left-handers. Detroit has the pitching potential to make it rugged all the way. The others should fight it out for positions in the second division.

1,000 Teenagers Gather to Work For Bettering Selves, Communities

speakers (this time adults) and a dance. More sessions are scheduled today.

Afternoon workshops covered subjects close to the hearts of today's teenagers and ranged from the operation of youth centers, to dating etiquette, to mental health problems, to enjoying family life, to youths' rights and responsibilities under the law.

Presiding at one workshop was Bill Suits, a Waupaca high school student, who lead a discussion on successful methods of beginning and continuing a community youth center. Aiding him was Laurie Kelly, another Waupaca student.

The group decided such a center was an important experience for the individual teenager and suggested young people get the backing of adults before undertaking the endeavor. It was noted, however, adults should remain in the background as much as possible, while teenagers planned and carried out their own ideas.

Room For Dancing
Plenty of room for dancing and areas for ping pong, card games, pool and similar activities were deemed vital to a youth center along with "stuff to eat."

Most of the Appleton delegation chose to attend a workshop on teenage dating and an example of a successful community project. Proper etiquette, smoking and drinking and Dutch treat evenings all entered the discussion and all were thrashed out by the young people.

In still another workshop, Miss Ferial Deer, Keshena, a member of the large delegation sent down by the Menominee Indian reservation, detailed her stay at an American Youth foundation camp in Michigan. She urged her listeners to take advantage of opportunities offered them and participate in the many constructive programs offered teenagers.

Her workshop, called "Opportunities Unlimited," was designed to give teenagers an idea of what can be accomplished by young people.

Work Together
During the morning session Tim Petri, president of the Fond du Lac Youth council, noted "duck-tails and dungarees are not our emblems in Wisconsin. Our picture is one of teenagers and adults working side by side to make this a better world. We work together, we don't talk apart."

One of the speakers during the evening program was Dr. A. Campbell Garnett, professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin, who advised the young people "to get interested in constructive objectives outside yourself if you want life to fulfill itself."

He also told them to "get interested in really interesting objects."

The city of Fond du Lac itself took the influx of Wisconsin youth in good-natured stride. One restaurant, fairly close to Roosevelt Junior High school where all sessions were held, reported running out of milk and hot fudge by 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

A call to the distributor ended the emergency and prepared the business for the supper-time crowd of ravenous young people.

Most restaurants were jammed during the lunch and supper hours and steady patrons found it advisable to catch a snack at an off-hour.

Attending the conference from this area were Ann McKenney, Bonnie Barlow, Jacqueline Aul, Tim Weber, Sue Menning, Cheryl Pearl, Mike Franke, Robert Roemer, David Miller, Charles Kunitz, John Budolz and Peter Peckham, all of Appleton; Lois Schloemer, Margaret Ryan, John Perry, Mary Aderhold, Ellen O'Leary, Kathy Deutsch and Jill Harker, all of Neenah.

Roseanne Mattern, Gary Ashenbrenner, and Sally Friedrich, all of Menasha; Jane Barbeau, Pat Doering, Gerald Heindel, Bonnie Bayorgren, Margo Paschen, Susan Mongin, Milo Strauss, Carol Skibba, Florence Huss and Carol Ashauer, all of Kaukauna; Judy Kiesow and Bonnie Larson, both of Winneconne.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

In Greater Numbers Than Ever, little children are coming to Christ in their own individual ways, in the earliest grades of Sunday school.

I sketched this class recently: A fidgety boy stretched his suspenders, two others good naturedly poked each other, a girl mothered her doll as they sang, "Oh, be careful little hands what you do, do, do... There's a Savior up above and He's looking down in love..."

The power of faith is evidenced in the 6.56 per cent increase in total Sunday enrollment of all faiths throughout United States in one year. The latest total on enrollment was nearly 39 million. (AP Newsfeature) the Democratic senator a "minstrel on the road, peddling his wares." It has been fashionable since 1946, he said, to enact bills to improve social security benefits.

In his discussion on the problems of education on the national and state levels, Smith declared the most crucial point is not school construction, but teachers' salaries. He believes the compensation is not adequate, stating that in Wisconsin 3,500 teachers leave the field every year. Some go to better paying jobs, he said, while others leave for marriage, retirement or to raise a family.

The answer in Wisconsin education lies in a state aid program, he believes, but a revision of state taxes is needed first in order to raise the needed $307 million by 1965.

Declaring the Wisconsin population will be over four million by 1970, with one million children in public elementary and secondary schools, he said, "From the aspect of the birth rate alone we are going to have to pay attention on the local and state scene to prevent federal intervention in our school systems."

Chamber members from Green Bay, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and other communities in the area attended the luncheon. George E. Johnson, Appleton, and Russell J. Ward, Neenah, directors of the state organization, were in charge.

Last Artist Series Concert

Ensemble Singing for 400 Years To be Traced by Lawrence Choir

The earliest and latest in choral music has been programmed by the Lawrence Concert choir for its April 14th appearance on the Lawrence Community Artist series and for its 28th annual tour. A capsule history of ensemble singing for the past 400 years has been selected by Director Lawrence Maesch for his 75-voice group, to be heard at Memorial chapel at 8:30 Monday night.

Selections range in age and dignity from the serene religious music of the Renaissance to the 20th century's folk opera Porgy and Bess; from the mourning sonorities of the Russian church to the intricacy of a Brahms motet.

Represent Russian School Early chapters in choral writing are represented by the great Italian polyphonic writer Palestrina, and his Spanish disciple, Tomas Luis de Victoria. The Palestrina Response to be heard is set to words from the Lament of Jeremiah and is written for a soloist, treble voices and mixed choirs. Victoria's Popule Meus, the opening number of the concert, is an antiphon for mixed voices also representative of the "Golden Age of Polyphony," the term often applied to the latter half of the 16th century.

Music of the Russian church is noted for its deep bass and high tenor parts, and a firmcluded Mrs. William Pickett, chairman, Mrs. William Bauer, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Lu Hackbert, and Mrs. Mable Torrey.

John Carlson, exchange teacher from Appleton, who spent, with his family, one year in England, showed slides at the meeting Thursday evening of the Past Matrons club of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The Reserve Officers association Ladies met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Olen. Seymour. Norman Astumun showed slides on his world tour taken with the navy. Mrs. Russell May was co-hostess.

The May meeting will open with a dinner.

Under the sponsorship of such musicians as Joachim, Liszt, and Robert and Clara Schumann, Johannes Brahms became recognized as the foremost creator of absolute music in the 19th century. His choral motet "The Wall of Heaven, O Savior, Rend!" will be one of the highlights of the concert.

A half-dozen contemporary composers are also included in the program, as evidence of Composer - Director Maesch's keen interest in the music that is being created today. Works by Bela Bartok, Ernest Bloch, Paul Hindemith, Roy Harris, Aaron Copland and Randall Thompson are included.

Hebraic, Rumanian Themes Swiss-American violinist and composer Ernest Bloch, one-time director of the Cleveland Institute of Music, has contributed the Baal Shem Suite, which uses Hebraic themes. It will be performed by Patricia Gode, violinist, and Allen Bonde, pianist.

Bonde will appear elsewhere on the program in a set of Rumanian Folk Dances by Bela Bartok, outstanding composer from the Balkan states and musical archaeologist. Although Bartok uses medieval modes and Magyar scales in his writings, he never imitates but converts them into crisp contemporary idiom.

"Lark," by Aaron Copland, as well as Copland's choral square dance "Stomp Your Foot" from "The Tender Land," appear during the latter half of the program. "Lark" will introduce faculty baritone George Cox as guest soloist. Copland, one of the nation's most celebrated current composers, won a Pulitzer prize for his ballet Appalachian Spring.

Our Town and Of Mice and Men. Another Copland work, "In the Beginning," written in 1947 was given its Midwestern premiere by the Lawrence choir in Orchestra hall, Chicago.

Four Youths Charged for Beer Party

Three Boys Jailed;
Gave Beer to Minor
Girls, Police Say

Four youths were haled in to municipal court Friday for their part in a beer party Wednesday night in the town of Buchanan.

Three month jail sentences were given James Van Deraa, 22, and his brother Martin, Jr., 19, both of route 3, Kaukauna, and Robert D. Cornelious, alias Bowers, 19, 146 E.

Third street, Kaukauna, on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two girls 15, one 16 and one 18.

Donald M. Verhoven, 20, route 2, De Pere, was fined $50 on the charge. He was the driver of the car and also was fined $50 and had his license revoked for 60 days for transporting beer in a car in which minors were passengers and $15 for having blue lights on the front of his car.

On Probation
The three youths given jail sentences were on probation. The Van Deraa brothers for contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old girl nearly two years ago and Cornelious on federal probation for stealing a car and driving it across state lines.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg told the Van Deraa brothers that "you have betrayed the trust of this court by committing this offense." He warned them that probation required a high standard of behavior, or it would be revoked.

The girls involved in the beer party have been turned over to the county welfare department for further investigation. County Policeman Stanley Arnold arrested the eight youths when he found their car parked about 2 miles east of Kaukauna in a field near County Trunk Q. A case of beer with four bottles missing was outside the car.

Promises Control

Esler Offers to Run Summer Park Dances

Sylvester Esler, 416 W. Parkway boulevard. Eighteenth ward county board supervisor and president and manager of Hotel Appleton, has told the recreation commission he might be willing to take over the summer dances at Pierce park pavilion.

The last four teenage dances were cancelled last summer when neighbors complained of misconduct and fear grew that serious wrong-doing would result.

Esler promised the commission he would keep the young crowd controlled.

Long-time Operator
He said he understands youth and how to handle them, mostly through years of conducting dances at various ball-rooms.

Esler said he would guarantee conduct of the crowd in and around the pavilion, but would not be able to do anything about actions beyond that point.

Esler and Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover are to inspect the pavilion and Esler said he intends to talk with Chief of Police Walter J. Hendricks about promised police aid.

Commissioners did not question whether dances should be continued this season. Several said it was wrong to punish all because of the actions of a few.

No Talks of Contract
Two other parties whom he did not identify have inquired about putting on the dances, Grover said.

Dances annually are held from the first Wednesday before the high school recesses for the summer to early September. They start at 8 o'clock and end at 11 o'clock at night.

Esler and the commission did not talk of a contract, but Commissioner Arthur Jones said he understands Esler would be willing to take over the dances for a percentage of the gate.

Crowds up to 1,500 were reported at dances last year.

Receives Term At Green Bay

Patrick Sullivan, 22,
Sent to Reformatory
For Burglary Attempt

Patrick Sullivan, 22, 325 E. Taft street, has been sentenced to the Green Bay reformatory for 1 to 2 years on a charge of attempted burglary.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg also sentenced Sullivan to a year in the county jail for carrying a concealed blackjack and six months on three counts of stealing auto wheels and tires, both sentences to run concurrently with the reformatory term.

Sullivan was arrested with three juvenile companions after they tried to burglarize the Shauger Filling station, 1544 E. Wisconsin road, March 25. One of the youths, 16, has been sent to the Waukesha state school for boys for his part in the attempt. No action has been taken with the girl, 15, and a boy, 17.

Sullivan asked for probation through his attorney, but Judge Schmieg told him that his bad conduct discharge from the air force, with two months in the stockade, and his record of thefts since his discharge in January made that impossible.

"You seem to associate with persons five and six years younger than yourself, then blame your troubles on them. I think you need some institutional discipline and care," the court told Sullivan.

County Board to Reorganize, Seat Five Extra Members

Dedication of $250,000 Airport Terminal Building to be Planned

Oshkosh — Winnebago county board of supervisors will reorganize Tuesday morning and, with the seating of five extra supervisors bringing the board membership up to 51, the reorganization will be on a broader scale than before.

The five new supervisors are from Neenah after doubling of the number of wards in that city from five to 10.

This will mean a possible realignment of committees with either an expansion of existing committees or a possible creation of new committees.

First on the program for Tuesday's session will be the election of a chairman and vice chairmen, posts now held by Supv. Joseph Drexler of Oshkosh and John T. Heigl of Neenah respectively.

Elected Committees

Rules under which the board will operate and the organization of committees also will come up on the first day's session as well as the election of a highway committee and board of welfare.

Previously the highway committee was elected at the fall session as well as the agriculture and education committee. It was decided then to have all committees elected and appointed at the same session. The other committees of the county board are named by the chairman who consults with the vice chairman and county clerk in making the selections.

One of the major items of business coming before the organization session will be the setting of a date for the opening and dedication of the new $250,000 airport terminal building.

This building is nearing completion and the aviation committee is expected to report on the progress.

The request for county aid to keep the University of Wisconsin extension in the Twin Cities also may come before the county board at next week's sessions.

Competing in the State High School forensics tournament at Madison today are the six Menasha High students shown above. Katie Christman, Dennis Leatherman, Ted Haber and Nancy Hildebrand, seated left to right, and Kay Halversen and Lou Ann Heidtko, standing left to right, received "A" ratings in the district to qualify for the state finals. But by golly, John's parking lot is so spacious and roomy, that no matter when you come out shopping (even at peak shopping periods like Friday night or Saturdays) you're going to get the feeling that John's surely must have reserved a spot for your car, because there's always plenty of room to park.

The family will love it too, since you don't have to walk a block or two from the car to the store. John's lot is right next to the store! And the parking area is so smoothly black-topped and well-lighted at night.

Hewitt Cagers Conclude Slate With 27-9 Mark

Twin Citians Place Third in 3 Meets; Kiesow Top Scorer

Neenah — The 1957-58 edition of the Hewitt Machine basketball team closed its schedule with a 27-9 record.

The Machinemen averaged 85 points per game and their opponents had an average of 74 per start, according to the unofficial tabulations. They scored 3,088 points to 2,689 for the foes.

Hewitt's collected a high of 118 points against Marathon in an exhibition game and its low point total of the year was 59 against the Fort Atkinson Blackhawks in the semi-finals of the Green Bay YMCA tournament two weeks ago.

High for an opponent was 97 by St. John Holy Name and a low 47 by North Fond du Lac in the Howards Grove tournament.

Retains Crown

Hewitt's repeated as champion of the Badger Amateur Basketball association by downing Marion, northern division winner, in the playoff. It placed third in the Howards Grove, Green Bay and St. John tournaments.

Because a scorebook wasn't kept for all of the games, the individual point totals are incomplete. The totals for 30 of the 36 games show Ralph Kiesow the top scorer with 474 points. Pat Casperson had 401, Tom Malchow 372, Darrell Schultz 329, Dave Parker 257, Bob Peck 228 and Harland Zietlow 222.

Meet to Organize 3-Man Scratch Pin Loop in Menasha

Menasha — A meeting to organize a three-man scratch bowling league will be held at 9 o'clock Monday evening at the Mid-Town alleys.

Current plans are to bowl four games under the Peterson point system for 10 weeks, beginning about April 27. Persons unable to attend the initial meeting have been asked to contact Mid-Town before the session.

Because the scoring system is unfamiliar to most bowlers, the league is being organized to form a nucleus for a circuit which will be started in the fall and will run all season. Anyone entering the summer league will have preference over the new bowlers. Hal Ganzel is in charge.

Items expected to be discussed are the league rules, schedule and the league-sponsored tournament. Last year the circuit had seven teams and it is hoped to up the roster to eight again this year.

Churches which feel that they don't have enough players to field a team alone are permitted to form a combination team. Last year's entries were St. Margaret Mary, the champion, St. Paul, Methodist, Presbyterian, Our Savior, Trinity and the combination United Brethren - St. Thomas club.

Distribute Code For Survival to School Children

Neenah — Police will distribute "A Child's Code for Survival" to Neenah school children from kindergarten through eighth grade Monday, Chief Irving Stilt announced this morning.

The code, presented by the Amvets auxiliary, lists nine "don't" and one "do" rules for youngsters. Mrs. R. H. Stripe, Oshkosh, of the Amvets auxiliary said, "If just one child is saved from humiliation, harm or even death, our efforts will have been for some good."

Roller Skaters' Parade Good Stunt for Neighborhood Group

BY CAPPY DICK

A Roller Skaters' parade is fun to hold on a warm spring day. Get all the kids in the neighborhood to take part. A few days' advance notice will give everyone time to prepare for the parade with a costume, a suitable sign to carry or some other stunt. Costumes may be made of crepe paper or can be assembled from old clothing.

This rainbow is made of crepe paper.

A couple of boys, for example, may decide to make themselves as tramps. A couple of others may dress up as circus clowns. Girls may dream up fancy costumes made of crepe paper.

Leading the parade should be two boys carrying a "rainbow" between them. The rainbow is simply some 8-foot strips of crepe paper of various colors. These will billow in the wind as the skaters roll forward.

If a skater doesn't have time to make a complete costume, he can at least make himself a crepe paper hat and carry a handful of crepe paper streamers to blow in the wind.

Music for the parade can be supplied by skaters who have instruments to play, such as ocarinas or kazoes. Even ordinary whistles will add sound to the event.

If the parade winds up at a paved area, such as the school playground, fancy drills can be conducted in follow-the-leader formation.

Counter-Move Begun to Sunday Shopping Issue

Independent Groccerymen Claim Clergy Involved in Competitive Maneuver

A counter-movement to the anti-Sunday shopping campaign has been begun by two independent grocery owners who wish to remain open on Sunday. They claim the issue is a competitive maneuver.

Private Enterprise Protective association, with Nick J. Schaefer, owner of Schaefer Grocery store, 602 W. College avenue, as chairman, and Michael Gabriel, owner of Towne and Country market, 1201 N. Mason street, as secretary, has been formed to oppose the program aiming to close all grocery stores on Sunday.

The anti-Sunday shopping action is spearheaded by Elmer Rehbein, of Petersen Rehbein Meat market and an officer of the Wisconsin State Association of Meat and Food Dealers, and has the backing of most of the Appleton clergy. The move was begun by the state dealers group.

In a statement issued upon formation of Private Enterprise Protective association, the new group contends "It seems to us entirely wrong that a business trade association should be so bold as to attempt to use the influence and office of the clergy in its competitive maneuver. We do not believe that members of the clergy will want to get themselves involved in business controversies of this kind. We believe there are several reasons why they should not."

Emergency Needs

"There are many business places open on Sunday, including taverns, theaters, restaurants, gas stations and the like. It is wrong for a grocery store, which is serving necessary as well as emergency food needs on Sunday, then isn't it just as wrong for gas stations to keep open to serve the public's gas needs on Sunday?"

"We think the Retail Meat and Food dealers are out of place when they ask the clergy and churches to become involved in this matter. . . If the motives of the Wisconsin Association of Meat and Food Dealers are entirely unselfish, then why should they endeavor to have the clergy carry on their campaign against the independent grocer who is merely attempting to serve the public in the same manner as gasoline filling stations and similar businesses?"

The statement goes on to point out grocery stores are within their rights under the law and asserts "the manner in which this controversy has been created will cause considerable resentment in our community at a time when we should all be working harmoniously to accomplish the many things that need to be done."

AHS Graduate Promoted to Full Professor

Dr. Edward Weismiller, an Appleton High school 1931 graduate, has been promoted from associate professor to professor of English on the Pomona college faculty, Claremont, Calif.

He is a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Leyden in the Netherlands this year and has been a member of the Pomona English department since 1949. He is author of two books of poetry.

Dr. Weismiller holds a BA from Cornell college, Iowa, which awarded him an honorary doctor of humane letters degree in 1953. He holds an MA from Harvard university, and attained his doctorate from Oxford university, which he attended as a Rhodes scholar. The professor twice has held Guggenheim fellowships for creative writing, as well as a Ford Foundation scholarship.

The Appleton High school Quill and Scroll society is named after Dr. Weismiller. He is a brother of Mrs. Westbrook Steele, whose husband is a former president of the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Manufacturer Says Paper's Price Flexible

New York — The current price structure of the paper industry depends on which way the economy goes in the near future, David L. Luke, president of West Virginia Pulp and Paper company, told the New York City of Security Analysts.

Luke said prices at the moment appeared "stable," and he thought they would hold steady or perhaps rise, if the economy "bottoms out" at present levels. However, he warned, "if the economy dips further, I can't say what will happen to prices."

Asked about International Paper company's cut in prices of kraft liner board and corrugated material on the west coast the week, Luke said he hoped the reduction would be restricted to that "rather protected area" only.

Net Fell in 5 Months

West Virginia Pulp had earnings for the first five months — to March 31 — of fiscal 1958 of 68 cents a share, just equal to dividend requirements, but down from 92 cents in the like period last year, Luke said. The company is currently paying dividends of 40 cents quarterly.

Luke said several companies — some from Europe and South America — had applied for licenses to produce Clupak, the concern's new stretchable paper. He said some licenses would be given as soon as the company "got its feet under its desk" handling the new product.

West Virginia Pulp will complete its $50 million expansion program of its mill at Luke, Md., as scheduled, Luke said. This program includes installation of two machines, one to be completed in 1960, the other in 1961. They will add some 750 tons a day to the capacity of the plant within the next five years, he said.

Council May Ask State To Vacate City Hall Drivers Test Office

The state motor vehicle department will be asked to vacate city hall office space it uses for drivers license examinations if the city council approves a board of public works recommendation.

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings sought the action to provide more room for the city relief department, which has offices adjacent to the state office.

The state would have to vacate within 60 days if the council approves Wednesday night.

He will discuss "Why Be a Holy Name Man?" when the men meet for breakfast after the 8 o'clock mass.

Tight Lid on Special Report On Skenandore

State's Attorney Says He'll Need Time to Study It

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — State officials today were keeping a tight lid on a special investigator's report on the alleged improper conduct of Brown County Sheriff Arley Skenandore.

Gov. Vernon W. Thomson said late Friday he had perused briefly the contents of the investigation report. The report was filed by a special investigator named by him last month to examine charges against the sheriff made by James Leanna, member of the Brown county board, and Owen Monfils, Leanna's attorney.

Thomson said he would not comment on the investigator's recommendations and conclusions until William Platz, an assistant attorney general, has examined the document in detail and has submitted his advice to the executive office.

Platz said he would need several days to examine the report.

Summary Report

Platz also said it would be improper for him to talk about the investigation he had drawn.

The governor told a reporter that the report is a summary of interviews with all persons who had been named in the complaints against Skenandore "and similar evidentiary material."

He said it may be some days before he is prepared to make a decision on the original proposal to remove the sheriff, because of the number of his engagements in Madison and elsewhere next week.

Leanna and Monfils have complained that Skenandore improperly accepted money and other things of value from a woman tavernkeeper in Brown county whose premises were subsequently raided as a house of prostitution. Skenandore has said that the money represented a loan and that it has been repaid.

Ladies Aid Votes Donation to Concordia College

Clintonville — The Ladies Aid of the St. Martin Lutheran church voted to contribute $25 to Concordia college for bedroom equipment at its meeting at the church Thursday afternoon.

Following the singing of a hymn and the scripture reading, the Rev. W. O. Speckhard spoke to the group.

Announcement was made of two wedding anniversaries that will be observed. They are the 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Catencamp and the 50th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Froelich.

The entertainment committee announced the June meeting will feature a hobby show. Members are asked to bring and display their hobbies at this meeting.

A humorous poem, "Back to Nature," was given by Mrs. Amos Schulz. Carol Allard, a senior high school student, demonstrated the making of cheese appetizers.

Ike Commends Area Car Dealers On Auto Buy Week

President Eisenhower has sent a letter commending Fox Cities area new and used auto dealers on their promotion of an "Auto Buy Week."

The letter, received Friday afternoon by James Gustman, of Gustman Chevrolet Sales, Inc., Kaukauna, promotions chairman for the event, said: "It is mighty encouraging to me to see businessmen roll up their sleeves and show the merchandising genius that has helped to make this country grow strong. Congratulations and best wishes on your promotion."

"Auto Buy" week opens next Friday and continues through April 27. It is designed to stimulate business through increased consumer buying.

Green Bay Cheese

Green Bay — Values were unchanged Friday on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange. One car cheddars sold on a bid of 31 cents the same as a week ago. There were no offers. Trading tone steady.
